

SECTION HEADING

CSBM 1130: Accounts Receivable for Small Business

Description

This course covers the process of computerizing business records using Accounts Receivable software. The student will be able to produce customer invoices, statements and reports using the selected software package.

Management Credits

3