

SECTION HEADING

SBMT 2330: Sales and Market Analysis

Description

In this course the business owner or manager will study the sales history and/or projected sales for the existing or new business. This course will also include product mix of existing products or services. The student will also study both the existing and future markets for their products and services.

Management Credits

2